

Hay, hay, and more hay was the theme of the hay sale this past Saturday, 1/12/19. The consignors did not disappoint on the selection and quality; there was something for every feed program and budget! It was a warm, dry, beautiful day for a January hay sale here in Minnesota! We had lots of first-time buyers that were able to purchase some good hay for all of their needs.

The day started with basic quality grass small square bales that on average brought $3.50 a bale. The small squares continued to bring prices on average of $5.25 for nice grass/alfalfa mix hay. Top-end green grass/alfalfa small square bales demanded a strong market at $7.00-$8.25. Small square bales of straw held steady on average of $4.00 per bale.

Large square bales of grass started on average at $80 per bale. Trending up to $95 for grass/alfalfa mix, and topped off at $110 for premium horse-quality alfalfa. Round bales of cattle/livestock quality sold on average at $65-70 per bale, with larger average quality rounds at $80-$85 per bale. No test on high-end alfalfa rounds.

Thank you to all the consignors and buyers for coming out! We appreciate your business and look forward to seeing you at the next hay sale, which will be held alongside our February 10th Cure Your Cabin Fever All-Breed Sale on Sunday, 2/10/19. Tack starts at 10am, Hay starts outside at 12pm, Horses start at 2pm prompt. Call 507-263-4200 to consign!
